For The Success of Both Employee And Employer

Become like us in developing your skills, building your expertise, updating your professional profile, advancing your career and broadening your knowledge base in credit management for competitive edge.

President's Letter to Incoming Student

Dear Incoming Student,

Learning & Professional Development: What Do You Have With You?

Let me quickly remind you of one thing: The success of both employee and employer in today's labour market depends largely on the people that employer employs and the skills that such employee brings into the organization.

Once a person become a student of the Postgraduate School of Credit and Financial Management (PSCFM), your growth and success – academically, professionally and personally – are our focus; you become part of a community of learners distinguished as specialists through our lifelong involvement in the study and application of credit management, and critical participation in the contemporary world of high demand for credit and financial analysis modeling, sound corporate credit management governance, effective consumer credit management, public sector credit scheme management, and business and trade credit management.

Please accept my invitation today to join the working class studentship of our Postgraduate School of Credit And Financial Management (PSCFM). Take my word that you will receive from this higher specialist institution quality learning outcome in your chosen course that will propel your career to the enviable top.

Just take a moment to go through this brochure; you will be happy to enroll for anyone of the four programmes offered by our Institution; based on your work experience and current qualifications, you certainly will find a suitable course to run with us.

I look forward to welcoming you to a fascinating learning experience with PSCFM.

Sincerely

Professor Chris Onalo, FICA

The Uniqueness of Our Faculty Members

The significant thing is that majority of our faculty members are actually adjunct Professors. They are people who are working in business sector, people from the credit industry. So teaching at PSCFM is practical. Our tutors have strong academic background at PhD levels, combined with many years of practical experience in managing credits at different levels and sectors in the credit industry, thus making their orientation in teaching sort of different from those who in other places move from one classroom to another.

What We Are Doing At PSCFM: This Will Also Interests You

As job market continues to change at a more rapid pace than ever, influenced by disruptive business models, it is forecasted that more workforce will be needed in industries such as business and trade credit industry, financial credit industry, consumer credit industry, public sector credit schemes for economic empowerment. Labour market for each of these industries is in acute shortage, and there is need for well trained, well baked credit and financial analysis specialists at junior and supervisory levels, and certified postgraduate credit and financial analysts at senior and managerial levels to adequately man these bits.

At PSCFM, we are fostering for Nigeria, and largely the global credit industry, a higher specialist education system that is able to produce quality human capital capable of managing and controlling financial credit, business and trade credit, corporate credit, consumer credit, public sector credit schemes through a robust credit and financial analysis modeling, down to the overall credit management spectrum.

This means that corporate organizations in Nigeria who have been looking to hire, retain and promote individuals that have been tenaciously baked with specific trainings, certifications, skills and experience in credit management can now look up to PSCFM qualified graduates.

Advice That Change Life

The world today is driven by and continuously in the quest for acute knowledge, critical thinkers with excellent academic and professional reservoirs in order to connect today with tomorrow. Let me ask you this question: Where are you in this scheme of the world? Take it or leave it, if you don't get to do something NOW, you are likely to lag behind, and that may be regrettable.

Begin now to invest in yourself, in your tomorrow; you have been so long committed to training or giving education to others but left yourself undertrained or under-educated? It will cost a bit of money to set yourself apart from others; nothing good in life comes without price.

Most people see something good and say to themselves “fantastic! Am going for this” only to back out few days away. Don't treat yourself like this, take the bull by the horn now and get enrolled to this programme.
